

We are Embedded4You

One-stop solutions for you –
from the idea to series

"Embedded4You e.V. is the leading competence network for embedded technologies and enables the implementation of efficient solutions through cooperation."

cooperative - individual - competent

More than 30 SMEs with over 2000 engineers and professionals

The business association Embedded4You e.V., founded in 2007, is an organization that bundles the advantages of small companies and brings their customer proximity and flexibility on par with the market power of large companies. In it, small and medium-sized companies from the German-speaking countries have found a cooperation platform that bundles their skills and flexibly combines technologies.

By using the partner expertise, each participant can concentrate on their own core competence and, if necessary, access the technology and know-how of other members at any time. In this combination, innovative products can be offered both individually and as part of a comprehensive overall solution.

Every single company in E4You network has excellent, deep industry knowledge and many years of project experience. The very close cooperation and continuous exchange of knowledge lead to higher product quality, more flexibility and greater customer satisfaction..

From idea to the series- all from one source

Embedded4You is our answer to your questions about current and future Challenges in the market environment for Embedded Systems

Our technology focus at a glance

One face to our Customer

Our customers receive reliable solutions from us, which consist of optimally coordinated technologies. The coordination of several contacts is dropped and he becomes part of the network. In the further course of his product life cycle, he can flexibly, quickly and independently access a wide range of services and expertise within the association.

These synergy effects result in considerable savings potential for our customers in the shortest possible time and in many cases a shorter "time-to-market" phase

Use our network or become part of it

Our success story is to bundle competences by bringing together the best of their respective fields under one roof organization. The secret behind this is a cooperation based on partnership that has been unique for more than ten years and which is reflected in the large number of customer projects carried out together. From the start, we were able to win the trust and projects of customers to which we would have been denied access as a single provider.

“Embedded systems now form an independent market segment and are one of the most important cross-sectional technologies in the 21st century. But as they often work in secret, the importance of technology in politics and the public is still underestimated.

Embedded4You e.V. is the concrete implementation of this idea.”
